

Sub b7
ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a sample solution treating instrument facilitating rapid and simplified adjustment of the condition of a sample solution proper for analysis with a biosensor before supply to the biosensor. The sample solution treating instrument in accordance with the present invention comprises control means, such as a catalyst or an adsorbent, for example, which can remove any interfering substance for adjusting the sample solution proper for measurement with a biosensor.